OUR COMMITMENT

At Singleton Reynolds, we are committed to providing a rewarding and supportive working environment. Our aim for students we hire today is for them to become partners in the future. While there is no formula for the perfect 'fit', our students will share the following characteristics:

- an interest in litigation (interest in construction law is an asset);
- solid academic background;
- strong work ethic;
- innovative and entrepreneurial spirit; and
- an eagerness to learn, adapt, and work collaboratively in our environment.

STUDENT PROGRAMS AND BEYOND

Where you Start: Our students start their careers with an in-depth orientation program focused on legal skills and firm integration. We aim to provide each of our students with the tools necessary to build a career in law, and to make connections with the colleagues, clients, and staff with whom we all work.

Training and Continued Legal Education: We support our students' and lawyers' continued appetite for learning and knowledge with the SR Institute, a Law Society-accredited, in-house curriculum of continued legal education. Our practice groups meet regularly to discuss updates in law, business development and practice issues. Our students meet one-on-one regularly with mentors, both partner and associate, who will ensure students are receiving the training they need.

Assignments: With no fixed rotation schedule, we provide each of our students with a broad-based and highly personalized experience. Lawyers assign work directly to students, providing an excellent opportunity to work with and learn from experts in the field.

Feedback: Every lawyer who works with a student is encouraged to give constructive feedback as work is produced, and students are encouraged to ask for that feedback. We also have a formal review process through which we collect and deliver feedback from each lawyer with whom a student has worked, and work with students to develop professional development goals and identify resources to support those goals.

Mentorship: Every student is assigned both a partner and an associate who will each, individually, provide that student with formal mentorship. Given our structure and environment, informal mentoring relationships are inevitably formed, and we encourage our students to take advantage of all mentorship opportunities.

KEY COMPENSATION

Summer students' salaries and benefits are competitive with firms in downtown Toronto (based on $98,800 annually). Any Summer Student who accepts a position to return as an Articled Student will also receive a bonus of $6,000 to help fund their last year of law school.
